

Performance Commentary

November was a positive month for global equities after some of the pandemic uncertainty was removed following the vaccine news. Real estate investors started to sell down some of the more pandemic resilient names. More broadly speaking, a rotation into value could be observed in November. It was a strong month for SKAGEN m2 both in absolute and relative terms. As a result of the increased interest in office space, we bought back Columbia Property Trust and initiated a position in Prologis. We sold out of Equity Residential after negative guidance as well as Immobiliaria Colonial. The fund's best performer was office company Entra following a bid situation at the end of the month. Aroundtown and CA Immobilien also performed well, as a result of growing optimism for all suffering subsegments after the vaccine news. The pandemic winners, namely growth stocks and stable earners, were on the losing side in November. SKAGEN m2 continues to focus on companies that we consider to be resilient in trend-driven subsegments, but also on opportunities that arise in mispriced names driven by the recovery. The long-term prospects are positive, however, real estate will not be immune to the challenges caused by the deteriorating macroeconomic environment.

The fund gives access to a normally inaccessible global real estate market. The fund selects low-priced, high-quality real estate companies from around the world. The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return. The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
