Investment strategy

SKAGEN Kon-Tiki is a value-based emerging markets equity fund. It seeks to generate long-term capital growth through an actively managed, high conviction portfolio of companies which are listed in, or have significant exposure to, developing markets. Subscriptions are made in fund units and not directly in stocks or other securities. The benchmark reflects the fund's investment mandate. Since the fund is actively managed, the portfolio will deviate from the composition of the benchmark.

Cost information

For explanation of the overall impact of costs on the investment and expected returns please refer to the Key Information Document.

Ongoing cost: 1,50 % (Of which management fee is: 1,50 %)

Performance fee: 10,00 % (see prospectus for details)

Risk profile (SRI)

We have classified this product as 4 out of 7, which is a medium risk class.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets. A medium risk class rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium level. Other risks materially relevant to the PRIIP not included in the summary risk indicator: Event risk, liquidity risk, operational risk, counterparty risk, derivatives risk and currency risk. If the fund invests in securities in a currency other than the fund's base currency, the value is affected by changes in the exchange rate. In addition, the value of your payout may be affected if your local currency is different from the fund's currency. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

Portfolio manager commentary, February 2026

Global equity markets moved higher in February, extending the positive tone from January, albeit with increased dispersion beneath the surface. Emerging Markets equities continued to outperform Developed Markets on continued enthusiasm around AI-related capex over concerns related to business models perceived to be at risk of disruption. SKAGEN Kon-Tiki has maintained a holistic approach to its AI exposure and thus avoided any major drawdowns. As a result, the fund continued to outperform its benchmark and broader equity indices.

Samsung Electronics was again the largest contributor during the month, benefitting from a combination of upward earnings revisions and a low starting valuation. Industry datapoints suggest supply remains tight in advanced nodes, reinforcing our view that this cycle may prove more durable than prior memory upcycles due to structurally higher AI-related demand. Hana Financial continued its strong performance, benefitting from improved sentiment towards Korean financials. The ongoing "Value Up" reform agenda has increased expectations of higher shareholder returns and improved capital discipline across the sector, which Hana continues to deliver against. TSMC was again among the top contributors during the month as it reported continued strong sales growth of 43% in January. Order visibility in advanced nodes remains strong, with sustained demand from AI and high-performance computing customers underpinning guidance of 30% growth for 2026. On the negative side, our larger Chinese holdings Ping An, Alibaba and JD.com declined amid continued weak macro indicators, especially related to consumption.

Portfolio activity remained high despite no new positions or exits in February. We increased our holdings in Naspers and Prosus, taking advantage of weakness related to its Tencent exposure, which fell on the back of regulatory and AI-related concerns. We also built positions towards target weights in Allegro, JD.com, Lojas Renner, Bank of the Philippine Islands and Life Insurance Corp. of India. Further additions were made to Hon Hai, Zhongsheng Group, Shenzhou International, UPL and Ping An on recent share price weakness, alongside smaller increases in Walmart Mexico, Coca-Cola Icecek and Sok Marketler in Turkey.

These increases were funded by trimming Korean positions such as Samsung Electronics, LG Electronics, Hana Financial, Korean Re and iM Financial that have performed strongly over the last 18 months. We also reduced Alibaba, Yara, Petrobras and Simpar as part of regular rebalancing of the portfolio.

At month-end, the portfolio traded at less than 10x earnings and 1.3x book value, compared with over 13x earnings and 2.5x book value for the MSCI Emerging Markets index. As a result, the portfolio retains its attractive absolute and relative value characteristics despite continued strong performance. In an environment where index returns remain concentrated and increasingly sentiment-driven, we believe disciplined, price-driven rebalancing and bottom-up stock selection remain the most reliable path to sustained outperformance, especially during periods of heightened geopolitical volatility.

Sustainability

SKAGEN's approach to sustainability
Our ESG approach is built on four pillars. In keeping with SKAGEN's active investment philosophy, our sustainability activities centre on active engagement with our holding companies, which is where we believe we can have the greatest impact. We recognise, however, that the full potential of a sustainable investment strategy is best realised when combining the following four pillars.

- ✓ Exclusion
- ✓ Enhanced due diligence
- ✓ ESG factsheet
- ✓ Active ownership

Article 8

Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR)

The product promotes environmental and social characteristics by directing its capital towards companies and issuers that meet defined ESG (environmental, social and governance) criteria. This is achieved through compliance with international norms and conventions, by taking into account negative impacts on sustainable development (PAI) and through product- or activity-based exclusions. See the prospectus for more information on the products sustainability characteristics.
