

Performance Commentary

October saw continued signs of a rotation from mega-cap technology companies into less expensive cyclical areas of the global equity market. These tech giants, which currently trade at elevated multiples and represent a record high concentration risk in US and global indices, face anti-trust investigations, growing suspicion over their business models and ethics, as well as difficult growth comparisons for 2021. The fund's strong relative performance since the market lows in mid-March continued in October. Ivanhoe Mines was the largest contributor as the Canada-based copper miner's vast African asset base approaches first production. KB Financial also performed strongly after the undervalued Korean bank posted solid quarterly earnings. Avaya was another positive contributor as the market increasingly recognises the US communications provider's dominant market position in the current home-working environment. Hitachi Construction Machinery detracted from performance on unconfirmed rumours of its divestment from Hitachi, which was stronger. We believe the market underestimates both the number of potential acquirers and sale price. We sold down our position in Australian miner OZ Minerals and US infrastructure company Eagle Materials as both hit our price targets. We increased our position in US food retailer Albertsons and French investment company FFP.

The fund is a concentrated global equity fund with a mandate to invest in all cap-sizes, geographies and sectors globally. With our concentrated portfolio of 30-35 core positions, we aim to generate absolute returns at a controlled level of absolute risk.
