

Performance Commentary

Global equity markets gyrated in February, balancing the different signals from the earnings season, global vaccine roll-out and economic data. Commodities rallied and US interest rates climbed. SKAGEN Global outperformed its benchmark index in February. The earnings season continued to be favourable for the fund's holdings, which generally reported encouraging results. Fundamentals look attractive over a multi-year perspective and our companies are focusing on investing organically to further strengthen their competitive position and drive cash flow generation in the years to come. The fund's top absolute performer was the family-controlled firm Estée Lauder, the world's largest pure-play prestige beauty company. It has managed the pandemic in a prudent manner while continuing to make inroads in the vast Asian market and expand its digital sales channels. The worst performer in absolute terms was the US data analytics and risk assessment firm Verisk Analytics. The firm reported solid growth in its flagship Insurance division, but revenue fell short of market expectations in the Energy and Financial Services divisions. Verisk seems to be actively addressing the issue by realigning some executive responsibilities. The fund did not enter or exit any positions. The portfolio is attractively valued over our long-term investment horizon.

The fund selects undervalued companies from around the world, including emerging markets, with attractive risk-reward for long-term investors.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
