

Performance Commentary

In April, emerging market equities reflected the tug-of-war going on between support emanating from US stimulus plans, dovish central banks plus rising commodity prices versus a difficult infection situation in countries like Brazil and India. Despite signs of a very strong reporting season so far both globally and in EM, markets did not move much in April. Within the portfolio, Ivanhoe Mines continued to climb to new highs on copper strength and as they are getting closer to starting production at their Kamoa-Kakula copper mine. LG Corp continued north on corporate restructuring potential and strong results across the LG entities. Brazilian retailer GPA saw continued strength on potential asset disposals, while its recently spun-out entity Sendas saw traction after positive coverage highlighting the attractive business model of high growth, high return Cash & Carry in Brazil. On the negative side, land-based salmon farmer Atlantic Sapphire was hit by transitory issues affecting harvest volumes. UPL, the Indian listed agro chemical producer, reversed slightly after an exceptionally strong run, while Ping An Insurance retracted on a still challenging outlook despite solid results. Our portfolio now consists of 50 holdings trading on a very attractive 9.5x 2021e P/E and 1.1x P/B, which is considerably lower than the EM index at 14.5x and 2.0x respectively.

The fund selects low-priced, high-quality companies, mainly in emerging economies.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
