Investment strategy

SKAGEN Focus is a high conviction equity fund that seeks to generate long-term capital growth by investing in a portfolio of global companies across the market capitalisation spectrum, with the majority of exposure invested in small and mid-cap companies. Subscriptions are made in fund units and not directly in stocks or other securities. The benchmark reflects the fund's investment mandate. Since the fund is actively managed, the portfolio will deviate from the composition of the benchmark.

Risk profile (SRRI)

We have classified this product as 5 out of 7, which is a medium-high risk class.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets. A medium-high risk class rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium-high level. Other risks materially relevant to the PRIIP not included in the summary risk indicator: Event risk, liquidity risk, operational risk, counterparty risk, derivatives risk and currency risk. If the fund invests in securities in a currency other than the fund's base currency, the value is affected by changes in the exchange rate. In addition, the value of your payout may be affected if your local currency is different from the fund's currency. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

Portfolio manager commentary, February 2026

In a particularly eventful month, AI-disruption risk weighed on the more richly valued segments of global equity markets, while heightened scrutiny of AI investments by hyperscalers dampened performance among US mega-cap technology companies.

In this environment the fund performed strongly, beating our benchmark by a wide margin. South Korea stood out during the month, supported not only by market momentum but also by structural reforms. The government's value-up program has moved into implementation, requiring companies to publish enterprise value enhancement plans and strengthening board-level accountability around capital allocation.

Against this backdrop, our largest position, below-the radar investment conglomerate KCC, was among the strongest contributors, alongside regional bank BNK Financial and the holding company Hyundai Mobis, both benefiting from improving sentiment around governance and capital efficiency. An activist shareholder publicly proposed monetising non-core assets, cancelling treasury shares and improving shareholder return policies at KCC, highlighting the large discount to net asset value.

On the weaker side, French car leasing company Ayvens detracted during the month as near-term uncertainty weighed on sentiment despite unchanged fundamentals.

We reduced our position in stainless steel producer Aperam as the equity has performed solidly and entered our price target range. In addition, we have reduced several of our South Korean holdings into strength, as share prices have moved sharply higher and in some cases approached our price target range.

Our ESG approach is built on four pillars. In keeping with SKAGEN's active investment philosophy, our sustainability activities centre on active engagement with our holding companies, which is where we believe we can have the greatest impact. We recognise, however, that the full potential of a sustainable investment strategy is best realised when combining the following four pillars.

- ✓ Exclusion
- ✓ Enhanced due diligence
